

HANCOCK HALL, QUINCY.

Monday

AFTERNOON
EVENING.

Dec. 26.

C. J. GORMAN'S COMPANY

Presenting that ever pleasing Drama

TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM.

Cast of Characters.

Joe Morgan, the Drunkard.....	Frank J. Rush
Sample Switchel, the yankee.....	Bob Irving
Simon Slade, the landlord.....	Geo. F. Smithfield
Mr. Romaine, the philanthropist.....	Ben-Linn
Harvey Green, } the gambler	I. Wm. Buhler
Frank Slade, } Simon Slade's son }
Willie Hammond, the village pride.....	M. S. Gridley
Ann Slade.....	Miss Kirby Langdon
Mary Morgan, Joe's daughter.....	Little Jess Maek
Mehitable Jane Cartright, the beauty of the village.....	Sadie Ferran
Mrs. Morgan, the Drunkard's Wife.....	May Bell Sprague

Synopsis.

ACT I—Exterior view of the Sickle and Sheaf. Interview between Mr. Romaine and Yankee. Sample's idea of modern drinking. Return of landlord. Scene 2—Interior of the Sickle and the Sheaf. Ex Miller and happy landlord. Poor Joe Morgan the drunkard. Little Mary in search of her father. Timely arrival of the Yankee.

ACT II—Slade's progress in tavern keeping. Quarrel between Joe Morgan and landlord. The fatal blow. Father, Father, they have killed me!

ACT III—Scene 1—The Yankee and the gambler. The treat. Yankees desire for Green's happiness. Scene 2—The drunkard's home, Joe Morgan's promise, Delirium of the poor drunkard, Nothing can hurt you dear Father.

ACT IV—Scene 1—Sickel and Sheaf, Uncle Josh and Poor House, death of Willie Hammond. Scene 2—The arrest. Scene 3—Joe Morgan's home, Little Mary and her father, I'll never drink another drop of liquor as long as I live. Death of Little Mary.

ACT V—Scene 1—Sample and Mr. Romaine, Sample a teetotaler, his description of things in Cedarville. Scene 2—Simon Slade, awful transformation of once happy Miller, Father and son.

ACT VI—Happy home of Mr. Morgan. The wife's joy, a drunkard now no longer, that is o'er. Free, disenthralled I stand once more.

We Recommend the Jewett Pianos.

Next Attraction, Saturday Night, Dec. 31.

A CONVICT'S REVENGE.

Great Prison Comedy Drama. Full of Vaudeville Specialties.