Physical Description: 95 linear feet

Abstract:

The Arizona, Southwestern and Borderlands photograph collection is an artificially created collection that consists of many folders containing photographs, from various sources, of Arizona, New Mexico, and Mexico arranged by topics including places, people, events and activities, and dating from about 1875 to the present, but mostly after 1920. Formats include postcards, stereographs, cartes-de-visite, cabinet cards, cyanotypes, view books, photograph albums, panoramas and photoprints.

Historical Note

The Photograph subject files were created and added to by Special Collections staff members, over the years, from donations received from various sources, in order to provide subject access to these photographs within Special Collections holdings.

Scope and Content Note
The files generally fall into the categories of Arizona and New Mexico cities and towns, military posts, and other places; Tucson, Ariz.; Indians of Arizona, New Mexico and Mexico; Mexico; and individual people. Formats include postcards, stereographs, cartes-de-visite, cabinet cards, cyanotypes, viewbooks, and photoprints.

Cities and towns is a heading as well as folders under the names of individual cities and towns. These are often 19th and early 20th century images of celebrations, businesses, buildings, mining activity, floods, and churches. Tucson (Ariz.) is well represented and includes categories such as Tucson (Ariz.)-Architecture, Domestic (including images of some well-known homes), Businesses, Buildings, Clubs, Hospitals, Neighborhoods, Schools and Urban Renewal. In addition to Tucson, Bisbee, Douglas, Globe, Phoenix, and Tombstone are also well-represented. Other places include military posts such as Fort Grant (Ariz.) which includes images of the Corbusier family between 1887 and 1905, picnics, a wedding party, the 14th Cavalry Band, and a few African American 10th Cavalry soldiers. New Mexico places are also present. National parks and monuments are also represented under their names.

The Mexico series is particularly strong. It includes images of the Mexican Revolution including the Mexican Army, Revolutionary Army, U.S. Army and U.S. Navy; and cities and people of Mexico including Cananea, Ciudad Juarez, Guaymas, Guadalajara, and Nogales. These are filed directly as in Mazatlan (Sinaloa, Mexico)--Carnivals, 1900-1920 or Mexico--History--Revolution, 1910-1920 (Bands (Music) Rurales).

Under the broader category of Indians of North America and Mexico are found folders for individual tribes including Apache, Hopi, Maricopa, Navajo, Tohono O'odham, Yuma, and Yaqui as well as New Mexico and Mexico native peoples. In addition to subjects such as Dwellings, Basket making, Children, Women, and Men, sometimes individual people are listed for example as Apache Indians--Portraits--Bonito. Highlights in this series are Apache Indians-San Carlos Indian Reservation (Ariz.) , Hopi Indians-Rites and ceremonies, and Indians--Tohono O'odham-Indian Achievement Days (showing Home extension fairs, 1930-1934).

Many other folders are under subjects such as Mines and Mineral Resources, Railroads, Ranches, Cowboys, Aeronautics, Automobiles, and so on. The Miami Copper Company is well represented with images of buildings, machinery, railroads, people, and more. Schools--Arizona includes photographs of Home Demonstration activities and children's activities at Indian and rural schools in Greaterville, Vail, Jaynes Station, Sonoita, etc.

The People category lists people alphabetically under the main heading of People. Many of these images are studio portraits from a Douglas, Arizona photographer, taken between 1917 and 1918, and identified with the person's name. Well-known state and local individuals are also included. These include the Earps, Jeff Milton, Tom Mix, John Slaughter, Nelson Miles, Bruce Babbitt, the Wakefield family, the DeConcini family, and many others. Some individual files contain more than portraits. Edward R. Monk's file has cattle ranching images from his Willcox, Ariz. ranch. B. F. Ord's file has family photographs and Fort Grant officers and wives. Ada P. McCormick's file includes women's activities during World War II, and Margaret Sanger's file includes images of birth control hearings.

Another format, which is listed both within the master list and separately at the end, is the Small Collections-Portfolio Boxes. These are arranged in the same format as the photograph files but they are filed separately in the Vault. They include photograph albums and small collections by person, place or subject. Several are scenic views of Arizona places including the Grand Canyon, some are Indians--North America--Hopi Indians villages and ceremonies. Mexico is well represented and the Mexican-American Border Region--History--20th Century has albums from Camp Harry Jones near Douglas, Ariz. and the New York National Guard stationed along the Rio Grande River. Photographs under Navajo Indians-Schools (Navajo Methodist Missions School) Portfolio Box (Vault) depict the life of students at the school in New Mexico circa 1954-1955.

The Panorama format contains panoramic photographs of mining towns such as Ajo, Bisbee, Ray, and Jerome, and military camps in Douglas and Nogales, Ariz. and El Paso, Texas as well as some town views.

Early Arizona photographers are represented throughout the collection and in some cases are listed in the guide. These include the Buehman Studio, F. A. Hartwell, D. P. Flanders, William Henry Jackson, George Wheeler, W. H. Williscraft, George Rothrock, E. A. Bonine, W. E. Hadsell, and Willis Haynes.

   File 4, Folders 1-17: Prescott photo album (ask for MS 500)
   File 5, Folder 1: OVERSIZE (Photographs and prints)

Portfolio Box 1 (Vault): Group of 31 OVERSIZE professional photographic images, possibly produced for an exhibit, of Arizona industries and monuments including citrus, cotton, cattle, dates, sheep, mining, polo, downtown Phoenix buildings, Montezuma’s Castle, and San Xavier del Bac, ca. 1938.

Portfolio Box 2 (Vault): Commercial Photograph album with 25 images of the Kayenta, Arizona area from the Wetherill & Colville Trail Outfitters and Guest Lodge ; titled ”The Rainbow Trail”, and produced by Pacific Photo and Art Co. for the Santa Fe Railway Co. Images include trail rides, Monument Valley and Rainbow Arch, ca. 1917.
Portfolio Box 3 (Vault): Personal photograph album with 45 images entitled "The Arizona Eastern 1904" in two parts. Chiefly consists of images of road work, blasting, grading and laying planks along with a construction camp and workers, likely for the construction of the Arizona Eastern Railroad, a line that served Phoenix to Globe-Miami from 1904 to 1935. A second section shows a group of men at leisure, camping and camp life.

Portfolio Box 4 (Vault): 49 photographs and 6 negatives; this scrapbook and loose photographs include scenic images of Flagstaff, the San Francisco Mountains, and the surrounding areas, ca. 1910s.

Portfolio Box 5 (Vault): 90 lantern slides, made by the Photographic Dept. of the University of Illinois, and comprised of images from around the state of Arizona, though many were taken of Tucson and the University of Arizona, ca. 1907-1915. Some images concern a surveying class and the Mesa to Roosevelt Road. Also included in these 90 slides are two images from California and eleven images from Mexico.

Portfolio Box 6 (Vault): Photograph album of 102 images of Southwest Arizona, mostly in Graham County and Pima County, Arizona. Possibly created by a University of Arizona engineering student, ca. 1909-1910, the images include scenery and mine activity in the Aravaipa Canyon area, Indian road crews, Turkey Creek cliff dwellings, the Aravaipa stage stations, and a Safford, Arizona street scene. Other photographs depict Mormon crowds and a picnic, the Quinn and Scarlett families of Safford, an Arizona Circus parade (1909), and a Tucson Cinco de Mayo parade (1910). University of Arizona student images show military cadet encampments at Sabino Canyon in 1906 and 1909, and a mechanical arts classroom workshop (1910).

Portfolio Box 7 (Vault): 26 photographs, by Judge Edward R. Monk (1852-1924), include scattered views of Arizona, scenes of the village Walpi and Hopi Indians, images of Navajo Indians and the Petrified Forest National Park. See also PEOPLE—Monk, Edward.

Portfolio Box 8 (Vault): Loose photograph album pages with 104 photographs, probably taken by someone stationed at Forth Huachuca, ca. 1907. There are photographs of the 14th Cavalry, Troop C in full dress review and a 14th Cavalry baseball team, soldiers at work and leisure, a camp in the Huachuca Mountains, and Fort Huachuca buildings including the post hospital and corrals. There are also images of the Nogales customs house and international boundary, and a few images of Bisbee, Tucson, and San Xavier Mission.

Portfolio Box 9 (Vault): 90 postcard-size photographs, mostly from the 1930s, chiefly of Tucson buildings, hotels, and streets including the Veterans Administration Hospital, Catholic Indian School, Pima County Courthouse, hotels, a railroad depot, the Silver Slipper saloon, University Square, Fourth Avenue, and more others. There are also a few views of San Xavier del Bac, Prescott, Nogales, Arizona, and Bisbee, including historical reproductions of the Bisbee Deportation and mining operations.

Portfolio Box 10 (Vault): Photograph album with 26 cyanotypes of unidentified men, women and dogs posed among tent cabins in a southern Arizona mining camp, ca. 1895-1900.

CHIHUAHUA (MEXICO : STATE) – RAILROADS (MEXICO NORTHWESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY)
Portfolio Box (Vault): Photograph album, compiled by J. Fred and Earl Storer, containing images of railroad construction, work camps, and building construction relating to the Mexico Northwestern Railway (Ferrocarril Noroeste de Mexico) in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, ca. 1909. There are also images of tourists, possibly the Storer families, at the Cueva de la Olla, an archaeological site near Casas Grandes in Chihuahua. Construction scenes include tunneling, building a bridge, a locomotive, work camps, and a campfire meal. Photographs are also present of constructing the lumber mill, homes in Pearson (now known as Juan Mata Ortiz), a cockfight, cliff dwellings, the Alamo (San Antonio, N.M.), and a circus procession in an unidentified American town. Two photographs show the interior of Earl Storer’s general merchandise store. The Mexico Northwestern Railway Company operated between El Paso, Texas and the lumber, mine, and agriculture regions of northern Mexico in the state of Chihuahua in the early 20th century and operated lumber mills at Madera and Pearson in Chihuahua State and El Paso Milling Co. in Texas.

MEXICO--DESCRIPTION AND TRAVEL
File 1, Folder 1: Photographs
File 1, Folder 2: Photographs and postcards
File 2, Folders 3-4: Photographs and postcards: 54 images taken during a trip to Mexico in May 1906 feature the states of Campeche, Colima, Guerrero, Nuevo León, Oaxaca, Tabasco and Veracruz-Llave. Highlights include Acapulo, Jonuta, Coatzacoalcos, Manzanillo, Monterrey, Salina Cruz, San Blas, and San Isidro.

Portfolio Box 2 (Vault): Photograph album of world travels contains 62 images, some albumen prints. Featured are the antiquities of Mexico in the National Museum, Mexico City, market scenes, the working class, and views. Images include antiquities of Egypt: Alexandria, Pompey’s Pillar, Cleopatra’s Needle, and the Sphinx. Photographs also depict India: Cairo, Taj Mahal, and Buddhist Temples.

Portfolio Box 3 A & B (Vault): 870 photographs from two unidentified family travel albums ca. 1897-1914.
In album A, 619 photographs feature views of Mexico, England, Portugal, Spain, Algeria, Morocco, and numerous images of Italy (Rome, Firenze, Napoli, Capri, Siena, Bologna, Venice, Milan, Genoa). Half of the photographs depict Mexico’s views, historical events, and people in the early 1900. Among the images are San Luis Potosí, Mexico City, Guadalajara, Jalisco, Puebla, Juaréz, Guadalupe, Xochimilco, San Angel, Chapultepec, Coyoacán, Veracruz, La Decena Tragica, and General Tapia and his revolutionary troops near Orizaba. Other images include Havana, New York, and Washington D.C.
Album B contains 251 photographs primarily of Mexico. Images include Mexico City, San Angel, Amecameca, Ixtacaleo, Veracruz, Basilica de Guadalupe, Xochimilco, Tlalpan, La Decena Tragica, and General Tapia’s revolutionary troops. Some of the images appear to be duplicates of album A.
Both albums have captions in Spanish and contain scattered images of individuals, presumably of family members and friends.

Portfolio Box 4 (Vault): Unidentified travel album of 319 photographs depicts Mexico and its various states, cities, and towns, highlighting images of buildings, churches, parks, markets, views, antiquities, and the social life and customs of its people. The images feature multiple sites, but are not limited to: Amecameca de Juárez, Ayutla, Chapultepec, Cholula de Rivera, Durango, Huachinango, Pachuca and its mine, Pátzcuaro, Querétaro, Salamanca, San Martín Texmelucan, Sayula, Tlacochahuaya, Tepoztótlan, Teziutlán, Yautepec, Zacatecas, Zacatlan, Zacualtipan, and Mitla in Oaxaca. Also highlighted are numerous images of Guanajuato: Acámbaro, Celaya, the Valle de Santiago and photographs of mummies.

Portfolio Box 5 (Vault): Unidentified travel album of 168 photographs and five prints. Inside cover: Mexico As John and I saw it in 1897. A few images may include the authors of the travel album. One image is labeled Guadalajara. Photographs feature Mexico views, people, markets, peddlers, towns, school children, women, draft animals, railroads, street scenes, dwellings, churches, bullfights, and a few antiquities.

Portfolio Box 6 (Vault): Brown leather travel album titled Mexico in gold letters on front cover has 200 photographs on 24 pages. Typed descriptions for each numbered photograph are on the back-side of the previous page, beginning with number 10. The album appears to be the excursion of a touring group, includes some images of the party, and lists several last names: Bigelow, Campbell, Heinz, Horton, Myers, Pearson, Wolf, and General Level. Photographs feature the cathedrals, children, churches, markets, people, railroads, streets, and views of Monterrey, San Luis Potosí, Toluca de Lerdo, Mexico City, Chapultepec, Puebla, Cholula de Rivera, Jalapa, Veracruz, Tampico, Progreso, Mérida, and finally Havana. Highlights include Topo Chico hot springs in Monterrey; Industrial and Military School and drilling squad in San Luis Potosí; cigarette factory with 500 women workers in Toluca; marching and mounted police, cotton mills, and street cars in Mexico City; Fort San Juan de Ulloa penitentiary in Veracruz; henequen manufacturing and drying at Xcuyum hacienda in Progreso; and views of Moro Castle from Havana harbor.

Portfolio Box 7 (Vault): Unidentified travel album with 135 albumen prints, 34 cyanotypes and three newspaper clippings. Creator, Abel Briquet, is identified on 74 of the albumen prints. “Trip to Mexico Feb. 1891- April” is handwritten on the inside front cover. All items were removed from album; arranged by state or subject in 18 folders within a manuscript box. States of Mexico represented are Aguascalientes, Distrito Federal (Mexico City), Guanajuato, Hidalgo, Mexico, Michoacán de Ocampo, Oaxaca, Puebla, Querétaro, Veracruz-Llave, and Zacatecas. Views of Aguascalientes include the plaza, streets, peddlers, railroad tracks, and women laundry workers. Distrito Federal features Mexico City antiquities at the Museo Nacional de Antropología; Cathedral and churches; Chalputepec; Viga Canal and Santa Anita; aqueducts of Belem; Hotel Iturbide; School of Mines; and city views. Guanajuato images depict baños at San Miguel de Allende; bridge at León de Aldamas; boys at Salamanca and Torréon railroad stations; and a horse railroad. Hidalgo includes a panoramic view of Pachuca and view of Ixmiquilpan. Mexico (Mexico: State) has images of Ayotla, Chalco, Cocotitlan, Hueoxculco, Ocoyacac, San Juan, San Marcos, Santo Tomás, Talmancalco de Velázquez, Tlapacoyan, and the Mexican National Railway bridge. Prints of Amecameca de Juárez in Mexico State primarily feature views of Popacatepetl-Iztaccihuatl, a hacienda, and the stairway to Sacromonte. Views of Michoacán de Ocampo include Pátzcuaro Lake; the aqueducts, streets, and Palace of the Governors of Morelia. Oaxaca features photographs of the Zapotec and Mixtec Indians. Puebla includes images of a ranch and one panoramic view.

Prints of Querétaro show the façade and fountain of San Agustín, the interior of the Convent; aqueducts; and street scene in Cayetano Rubio (formerly Hércules). Veracruz-Llave features a street scene and bridges; image of Colonial Manuel González (formerly Zentlalpam); Indian men and youth; viaduct of the Metlac Railway; and views of a hacienda at Tuxpango. Orizaba in Veracruz-Llave has images of Rio Orizaba and Volcano de Orizaba, including various views of the Cloister, fishers, park, people, streets and villages; and the waterfalls of Rincon Grande and Salto de Barrio Nuevo. Images of Zacatecas depict a view of the main street with plaza, market, and people; the Cathedral; and Santo Domingo church. Other highlights portray the people and tropics of Mexico, including peddlers, women, dwellings and families.

Voyages and travels (see also Mexico—description and travel)

Portfolio Box (Vault): Vellum folio designed by Giulio Giantmi Firenze contains 325 photographs of which 245 primarily feature images of unidentified people during their steamboat voyage and travels to Egypt,
Italy and England. Numerous photographs of Egypt feature a parade and procession with Egyptian soldiers and people in traditional dress; mosque; Sphinx with great Kufu’s Pyramid; Upper Egypt with rock cut tombs; falukas or small sailboats; Temples of Hathor, Hatshepsut, Karnak, Philae, and Medinat Habu or Ramses III; city of Thebes or Luxor; bust of a pharaoh; statue of Amenhotep II or Colossi of Mememem;
Egyptian men and children peddlers. Highlights of Italy include views, buildings, harbor and steamboats;
Tower of Pisa; church in S. Marco; the Bridge of Sighs; the canals and gondolas in Venice. Images of England include views of the country side and seascape; castles or homes and haunts; a festival, parade and procession; British soldiers and Bobbies; and Westminster Abbey. Within the folio are 80 photographs of sculptures, statues, monuments, and art work chiefly in Italy (Florence, Naples, Roma, Tivoli, Venice), and a few from Germany and Amsterdam.

ALBUQUERQUE (N.M.)  (ask for MS 249)

LOS ALISOS RANCH (CALIF.)
Portfolio Box (Vault): Photograph album with 64 photographs of the Los Alisos Rancho, a citrus farm owned by Judge Charles Silent, located at Glendora, northeast of Los Angeles, California prior to 1960.

APACHE TRAIL  (ask for MS 487)

ARIZONA—ARID REGIONS
Portfolio Box (Vault): 22 photographs and report, 1960, titled “The Utilization of Arid Lands : Second Annual Report”. (A copy is also available in the Science-Engineering Library).

ARIZONA—DESCRIPTION AND TRAVEL
Portfolio Box 1 (Vault): Photograph album with 85 photographs given by Sallie (Sarah) Pierce Harris includes images of family and the Patagonia, Arizona and Mansfield Canyon areas of Santa Cruz County, ca. 1912-1917. Harris moved to Patagonia in 1912 with her parents, Colwell and Mary (Rood) Pierce. There are images of the Patagonia Development Company, the railroad depot, freight teams, miners and mine activity. Also included are images of Mexico, both photographs and postcards, particularly Nogales and Nogales, Arizona. Nogales images include the international line, customs house, school, and a July 4th parade. There are postcards by Lohn of Mexican revolutionaries, Gen. Pascual Orozco, and Manuel Mascarenas.

Portfolio Box 2 (Vault): 215 photographs from an unidentified photograph album ca. 1920-30. Besides family portraits, photographs depict Holbrook, Fort Huachuca, Prescott, and Fort Whipple, Arizona including images of nurses, a sanitorium, Fort Huachuca military hospital and medical staff, a military cemetery and funeral, and a tent camp. There is also an image of the 5th Cavalry, Troops G & E on a practice march near Holbrook.

Portfolio Box 3 (Vault):  ask for MS 248

ARIZONA—VIEWS
Portfolio Box 1 (Vault): Group of 31 OVERSIZE professional photographic images, possibly produced for an exhibit, of Arizona industries and monuments including citrus, cotton, cattle, dates, sheep, mining, polo, downtown Phoenix buildings, Montezuma’s Castle, and San Xavier del Bac, ca. 1938.

Portfolio Box 2 (Vault): Commercial Photograph album with 25 images of the Kayenta, Arizona area from the Wetherill & Colville Trail Outfitters and Guest Lodge; titled “The Rainbow Trail”, and produced by Pacific Photo and Art Co. for the Santa Fe Railway Co. Images include trail rides, Monument Valley and Rainbow Arch, ca. 1917.

Portfolio Box 3 (Vault): Personal photograph album with 45 images entitled "The Arizona Eastern 1904” in two parts. Chiefly consists of images of road work, blasting, grading and laying planks along with a construction camp and workers, likely for the construction of the Arizona Eastern Railroad, a line that served Phoenix to Globe-Miami from 1904 to 1935. A second section shows a group of men at leisure, camping and camp life.
Portfolio Box 4 (Vault): 49 photographs and 6 negatives; this scrapbook and loose photographs include scenic images of Flagstaff, the San Francisco Mountains, and the surrounding areas, ca. 1910s.

Portfolio Box 5 (Vault): 90 lantern slides, made by the Photographic Dept. of the University of Illinois, and comprised of images from around the state of Arizona, though many were taken of Tucson and the University of Arizona, ca. 1907-1915. Some images concern a surveying class and the Mesa to Roosevelt Road. Also included in these 90 slides are two images from California and eleven images from Mexico.

Portfolio Box 6 (Vault): Photograph album of 102 images of Southwest Arizona, mostly in Graham County and Pima County, Arizona. Possibly created by a University of Arizona engineering student, ca. 1909-1910, the images include scenery and mine activity in the Aravaipa Canyon area, Indian road crews, Turkey Creek cliff dwellings, the Aravaipa stage stations, and a Safford, Arizona street scene. Other photographs depict Mormon crowds and a picnic, the Quinn and Scarlett families of Safford, an Arizona Circus parade (1909), and a Tucson Cinco de Mayo parade (1910).
