

GUIDE TO UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA ARCHIVES

by Lynn M. D'Antonio

The purpose of this guide is to assist researchers interested in the history of the University of Arizona. At present there are two general histories of the University: Douglas D. Martin's A Lamp in the Desert, and Phyllis Ball's A Photographic History of the University of Arizona, 1885-1985. Martin's book covers the period from 1863 to 1960, and Ball's brings events up to 1985. Copies of both of these books are in the main stacks and may be checked out.

For those interested in more detailed information about the University, the University Archives in Special Collections contains all printed publications by the University, papers of many of the Presidents, biographical files and unpublished administrative records.

Call numbers for particular items are provided in the left hand column. "Az" refers to a manuscript collection and "Pam." at the end of the call number indicates that the item is a pamphlet (generally under 50 pages).

Under the broad heading of history are included departmental histories produced on the occasion of the University's Centennial. The LIFE AND TIMES category includes various items of a historical nature, such as yearbooks, and student newspapers, which document the daily activities of students and university personnel.
